DETAILED ACTION

This Office action is in response to the amendment filed June 1, 2007.

The allowability of claims 9 and 10 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered prior art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sweeney (US 4,378,973).

Sweeney teaches a diesel fuel composition comprising cyclohexane (C₆ alicyclic saturated hydrocarbon) and oxygenated compounds (see abstract). The oxygenated compounds include at least one of aldehydes and ketones having 3 to 6 carbon atoms, ethers, and alcohols having 2-26 carbon atoms, such as ethanol (see col. 2, lines 13-25). The fuel contains from 0.5-5 wt% cyclohexane and 0.5-5.0 wt% oxygenated compound (see col. 2, line 67 through col. 2, lines 1-2).

Sweeney teaches the limitations of the claims other than exemplifying a composition wherein ethanol is present with cyclohexane and an oxygenated compound. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have included ethanol in the composition E of Sweeney (see Table at col. 2) because

Art Unit: 1714

Sweeney specifically teaches that ethanol may be used as one of the oxygenated compounds and he teaches that a mixture of the oxygenated compounds may be used.

With respect to the mixing step of claim 10, it is well settled that the selection of any order of performing process steps is prima facie obvious in the absence of new or unexpected results. In re Gibson, 39 F.2d 975, 5 USPQ 230 (CCPA 1930).

Claims 11-15 are allowable. The prior art fails to teach the claimed fuel composition comprising ethanol, an oxygen-containing component and the hydrocarbon in the recited proportions.
